

Brief Contents

Part 1 An Introduction to Consumer Behavior 1

Chapter 1 Understanding Consumer Behavior 2

Appendix Developing Information About Consumer Behavior 28

Part 2 The Psychological Core 43

Chapter 2 Motivation, Ability, and Opportunity 44

Chapter 3 From Exposure to Comprehension 72

Chapter 4 Memory and Knowledge 99

Chapter 5 Attitudes Based on High Effort 127

Chapter 6 Attitudes Based on Low Effort 157

Part 3 The Process of Making Decisions 183

Chapter 7 Problem Recognition and Information Search 184

Chapter 8 Judgment and Decision Making Based on High Effort 213

Chapter 9 Judgment and Decision Making Based on Low Effort 241

Chapter 10 Post-Decision Processes 267

Part 4 The Consumer's Culture 297

Chapter 11 Social Influences on Consumer Behavior 298

Chapter 12 Consumer Diversity 329

Chapter 13 Household and Social Class Influences 355

Chapter 14 Psychographics: Values, Personality, and Lifestyles 382

Part 5 Consumer Behavior Outcomes and Issues 413

Chapter 15 Innovations: Adoption, Resistance, and Diffusion 414

Chapter 16 Symbolic Consumer Behavior 442

Chapter 17 Marketing, Ethics, and Social Responsibility in Today's Consumer Society 472

Contents

Preface xiii

Part 1 An Introduction to Consumer Behavior 1

Chapter 1 Understanding Consumer Behavior 2

INTRODUCTION: Panera Bread: More than Bread 2

Defining Consumer Behavior 3

Consumer Behavior Involves Goods, Services, Activities,
Experiences, People, and Ideas 3

Consumer Behavior Involves More than Buying 4

Consumer Behavior Is a Dynamic Process 5

Consumer Behavior Can Involve Many People 5

Consumer Behavior Involves Many Decisions 5

Consumer Behavior Involves Emotions and Coping 9

What Affects Consumer Behavior? 10

The Psychological Core: Internal Consumer Processes 11

The Process of Making Decisions 12

The Consumer's Culture: External Processes 12

Consumer Behavior Outcomes and Issues 13

Who Benefits from the Study of Consumer Behavior? 14

Marketing Managers 14

Ethicists and Advocacy Groups 14

Public Policy Makers and Regulators 15

Academics 15

Consumers and Society 15

Marketing Implications of Consumer Behavior 15

Developing and Implementing Customer-Oriented
Strategy 16

Selecting the Target Market 16

Developing Products 16

Positioning 17

Making Promotion and Marketing

Communications Decisions 18

Making Pricing Decisions 19

Making Distribution Decisions 20

Summary 22

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: How Unilever's Brands Connect with Consumers 22

Endnotes 23

Appendix Developing Information About Consumer Behavior 28

Consumer Behavior Research Methods 28

Surveys 29

Focus Groups 30

Interviews 30

Storytelling 31

Photography and Pictures 31

Diaries 31

Experiments 32

Field Experiments 33

Conjoint Analysis 33

Observations and Ethnographic Research 33

Purchase Panels 34

Database Marketing 34

Netnography 34

Psychophysiological Reactions and Neuroscience 35

Types of Consumer Researchers 36

In-House Marketing Research Departments 36

External Marketing Research Firms 37

Advertising Agencies and Media Planning Firms 37

Syndicated Data Services 38

Retailers 38

Research Foundations and Trade Groups 38

Government 39

Consumer Organizations 39

Academics and Academic Research Centers 39

Ethical Issues in Consumer Research 39

The Positive Aspects of Consumer Research 40

The Negative Aspects of Consumer Research 40

Summary 41

Endnotes 41

Part 2 The Psychological Core 43

Chapter 2 Motivation, Ability, and Opportunity 44

INTRODUCTION: Movie Tavern Markets Food and a Flick 44

Consumer Motivation and Its Effects 45

High-Effort Behavior 45

High-Effort Information Processing and Decision Making 45

Felt Involvement 47

What Affects Motivation? 48

Personal Relevance 48

Values 49

Needs 49

Goals	53
Goals and Emotions	55
Self-Control and Goal Conflict	55
Perceived Risk	58
Inconsistency with Attitudes	60
Consumer Ability: Resources to Act	60
Financial Resources	60
Cognitive Resources	61
Emotional Resources	61
Physical Resources	61
Social and Cultural Resources	62
Education and Age	62

Chapter 3 From Exposure to Comprehension 72

INTRODUCTION: Wax or Real? Welcome to Madame Tussauds 72

Exposure and Consumer Behavior	73
Factors Influencing Exposure	73
Selective Exposure	73
Attention and Consumer Behavior	76
Characteristics of Attention	76
Focal and Nonfocal Attention	77
Customer Segments Defined by Attention	80
Habituation	80
Perception and Consumer Behavior	80
Perceiving Through Vision	81
Perceiving Through Hearing	81
Perceiving Through Taste	82
Perceiving Through Smell	82

Chapter 4 Memory and Knowledge 99

INTRODUCTION: The Unforgettable Apple 99

What Is Memory?	100
Sensory Memory	100
Working Memory	102
Long-Term Memory	102
Explicit Memory, Implicit Memory, and Processing Fluency	103
How Memory Is Enhanced	104
Knowledge Content, Structure, and Flexibility	105
Knowledge Content: Schemas and Scripts	106
Knowledge Structure: Categories	111
Knowledge Flexibility	114
Why Consumers Differ in Knowledge
Content and Structure	115

Chapter 5 Attitudes Based on High Effort 127

INTRODUCTION: Prestige Watches Have Timeless Appeal 127

What Are Attitudes?	128
The Importance of Attitudes	128
The Characteristics of Attitudes	128
Forming and Changing Attitudes	129
The Cognitive Foundations of Attitudes	131
Direct or Imagined Experience	131
Reasoning by Analogy or Category	131
Values-Driven Attitudes	132
Social Identity-Based Attitude Generation	132
Analytical Processes of Attitude Formation	132
How Cognitively Based Attitudes Are Influenced	135
Communication Source	136

Consumer Opportunity	62
Time	63
Distraction	63
Complexity, Amount, Repetition, and Control of Information	63

Summary 65

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: USAA: Million of Customers, One Bank Branch 65

Endnotes 66

Perceiving Through Touch	82
When Do We Perceive Stimuli?	84
How Do Consumers Perceive a Stimulus?	86
Comprehension and Consumer Behavior	87
Source Identification	87
Message Comprehension	88
Consumer Inferences	90
Summary	92

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: How Under Armour Gets Noticed 93

Endnotes 94

Memory and Retrieval	116
Retrieval Failures	116
Retrieval Errors	117
Enhancing Retrieval	117
Characteristics of the Stimulus	118
Summary	120

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Nostalgia Marketing Brings Memories Back 120

Endnotes 121

The Message	138
The Affective (Emotional) Foundations of Attitudes	141
How Affectively Based Attitudes Are Influenced	143
The Source	143
The Message	144
Attitude Toward the Ad	146
When Do Attitudes Predict Behavior?	146
Summary	148

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Volkswagen's Drive to Become the World's Top Automaker 149

Endnotes 150

Chapter 6 Attitudes Based on Low Effort 157

INTRODUCTION: Snacks Go Social and Mobile 157

High-Effort Versus Low-Effort Routes to Persuasion 158

Unconscious Influences on Attitudes When

Consumer Effort Is Low 160

Thin-Slice Judgments 160

Body Feedback 160

Cognitive Bases of Attitudes When

Consumer Effort Is Low 161

How Cognitive Attitudes Are Influenced 162

Communication Source 162

The Message 162

Message Context and Repetition 164

Affective Bases of Attitudes When Consumer

Effort Is Low 164

The Mere Exposure Effect 164

Classical and Evaluative Conditioning 165

Attitude Toward the Ad 167

Mood 168

How Affective Attitudes Are Influenced 169

Communication Source 169

The Message 171

Summary 175

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: The Old Spice Man Spices Up

Brand Marketing 176

Endnotes 177

Part 3 The Process of Making Decisions 183

Chapter 7 Problem Recognition and Information Search 184

INTRODUCTION: Quick Response Codes for Quick Information 184

Problem Recognition 185

The Ideal State: Where We Want to Be 185

The Actual State: Where We Are Now 187

Internal Search: Searching for

Information from Memory 188

How Much Do We Engage in Internal Search? 188

What Kind of Information Is Retrieved from

Internal Search? 189

Is Internal Search Always Accurate? 193

External Search: Searching for Information

from the Environment 194

Where Can We Search for Information? 195

How Much Do We Engage in External Search? 198

What Kind of Information Is Acquired in External Search? 203

Is External Search Always Accurate? 204

How Do We Engage in External Search? 204

Summary 206

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Searching for a Search Engine 207

Endnotes 208

Chapter 8 Judgment and Decision Making Based on High Effort 213

INTRODUCTION: Cars Load Up on Gizmos and Gadgets 213

High-Effort Judgment Processes 214

Judgments of Likelihood and Goodness/Badness 214

Mental and Emotional Accounting 216

Biases in Judgment Processes 216

High-Effort Decisions and High-Effort

Decision-Making Processes 218

Deciding Which Brands to Consider 219

Deciding Which Criteria Are Important to the Choice 220

Deciding What Brand to Choose:

Thought-Based Decisions 222

Decisions Based on Brands 223

Decisions Based on Product Attributes 224

Decisions Based on Gains and Losses 225

Deciding What Brand to Choose:

High-Effort Feeling-Based Decisions 226

Appraisals and Feelings 227

Affective Forecasts and Choices 227

Imagery 228

Additional High-Effort Decisions 229

Decision Delay 229

Decision Making When Alternatives Cannot Be Compared 229

What Affects High-Effort Decisions? 230

Consumer Characteristics 230

Characteristics of the Decision 231

Group Context 233

Summary 234

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Harley-Davidson Wheels

into India 235

Endnotes 236

Chapter 9 Judgment and Decision Making Based on Low Effort 241

INTRODUCTION: Need Dorm Stuff? Hop on the Bullseye Bus! 241

Low-Effort Judgment Processes 242

The Representativeness Heuristic 242

The Availability Heuristic 242

Low-Effort Decision-Making Processes 245

Unconscious Low-Effort Decision Making 245

Conscious Low-Effort Decision Making 245

Using Simplifying Strategies When Consumer Effort Is Low 246

Learning Choice Tactics 247

Reinforcement 247

Punishment 247

Repeat Purchase 248

Choice Tactics Depend on the Product 248

Low-Effort Thought-Based Decision Making 249

Performance as a Simplifying Strategy 249

Habit as a Simplifying Strategy 249

Brand Loyalty as a Simplifying Strategy 251

Price as a Simplifying Strategy 253

Normative Influences as a Simplifying Strategy 256

Low-Effort Feeling-Based Decision Making 256

Feelings as a Simplifying Strategy 256

Brand Familiarity 257

Decision Making Based on Variety-Seeking Needs 258

Buying on Impulse 259

Summary 260

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Bargain-a-Day Deal Appeal 261

Endnotes 262

Chapter 10 Post-Decision Processes 267

INTRODUCTION: Companies Go Social for Improved Customer Service 267

Post-Decision Dissonance and Regret 268

Dissonance 268

Regret 268

Learning from Consumer Experience 270

A Model of Learning from Consumer Experience 271

What Affects Learning? 272

How Do Consumers Make Satisfaction or

Dissatisfaction Judgments? 273

Satisfaction/Dissatisfaction Based on Thoughts 275

Satisfaction/Dissatisfaction Based on Feelings 279

Responses to Dissatisfaction 281

Complaints 281

Responding to Service Recovery 282

Responding by Negative Word of Mouth 283

Is Customer Satisfaction Enough? 283

Disposition 285

Disposing of Meaningful Objects 286

Recycling 287

Summary 289

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: What to Do with Old

Cell Phones? 290

Endnotes 291

Part 4 The Consumer's Culture 297

Chapter 11 Social Influences on Consumer Behavior 298

INTRODUCTION: Buzz Sends Angry Birds Soaring 298

Sources of Influence 299

Marketing and Nonmarketing Sources 299

How Do These General Sources Differ? 301

Opinion Leaders 303

Reference Groups as Sources of Influence 305

Types of Reference Groups 305

Characteristics of Reference Groups 306

Reference Groups Affect Consumer Socialization 309

Normative Influence 310

How Normative Influence Can Affect Consumer Behavior 311

What Affects Normative Influence Strength 312

Informational Influence 316

Factors Affecting Informational Influence Strength 316

Descriptive Dimensions of Information 318

The Pervasive and Persuasive Influence of Word of Mouth 318

Summary 322

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Big Buying on Black Friday and Cyber Monday 322

Endnotes 323

Chapter 12 Consumer Diversity 329

INTRODUCTION: Serving Shrimp Burgers in Beijing and Potato Tacos in Bangalore 329

How Age Affects Consumer Behavior 330

Age Trends in the United States 330

Teens and Millennials 330

Generation X 334

Boomers 335

Seniors 336

How Gender and Sexual Orientation Affect Consumer Behavior 337

- Sex Roles 337
- Differences in Acquisition and Consumption Behaviors 338
- Gender and Sexual Orientation 339
- How Regional Influences Affect Consumer Behavior 340
 - Regions Within the United States 340
 - Regions Across the World 341
- How Ethnic Influences Affect Consumer Behavior 342
 - Ethnic Groups Within the United States 343
 - Ethnic Groups Around the World 347
- The Influence of Religion 347
- Summary 348
- CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Marketing to Teens
 - Worldwide via Music 349
- Endnotes 350

Chapter 13 Household and Social Class Influences 355

- INTRODUCTION: Marketing to “$2 a Day” Consumers 355
- How the Household Influences Consumer Behavior 356
 - Types of Households 356
 - Households and Family Life Cycle 358
 - Changing Trends in Household Structure 358
- Roles That Household Members Play 361
 - The Roles of Spouses 362
 - The Role of Children 363
- Social Class 364
 - Types of Social Class Systems 364
 - Social Class Influences 365
 - How Social Class Is Determined 366
- How Social Class Changes over Time 367
 - Upward Mobility 368
 - Downward Mobility 368
 - Social Class Fragmentation 368
- How Does Social Class Affect Consumption? 369
 - Conspicuous Consumption and Voluntary Simplicity 369
 - Status Symbols and Judging Others 370
 - Compensatory Consumption 370
 - The Meaning of Money 371
- The Consumption Patterns of Specific Social Classes 372
 - The Upper Class 372
 - The Middle Class 373
 - The Working Class 373
 - The Homeless 373
- Summary 376
- CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: IKEA’s Household
 - Appeal 376
- Endnotes 377

Chapter 14 Psychographics: Values, Personality, and Lifestyles 382

- INTRODUCTION: The Dazzle of Customizing via Zazzle 382
- Values 383
 - How Values Can Be Described 385
 - The Values That Characterize Western Cultures 386
 - Why Values Change 391
 - Influences on Values 391
 - How Values Can Be Measured 393
- Personality 396
 - Research Approaches to Personality 396
 - Determining Whether Personality Characteristics Affect Consumer Behavior 398
- Lifestyles 401
 - Lifestyle and Behavior Patterns 401
 - Voluntary Simplicity 402
- Psychographics: Combining Values, Personality, and Lifestyles 404
 - VALSTM 404
 - Other Applied Psychographic Research 404
- Summary 406
- CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Earache Treatment, Aisle 3: The Rise of Retail Walk-In Clinics 406
- Endnotes 407

Part 5 Consumer Behavior Outcomes and Issues 413

Chapter 15 Innovations: Adoption, Resistance, and Diffusion 414

- INTRODUCTION: Will Consumers Pay with Their Phones? 414
- Innovations 415
 - Defining an Innovation 415
 - Innovations Characterized by Degree of Novelty 417
 - Innovations Characterized by Benefits Offered 418
 - Innovations Characterized by Breadth 418
 - Innovations and Cocreation 418
- Resistance Versus Adoption 419
 - Whether Consumers Adopt an Innovation 419
 - How Consumers Adopt an Innovation 420
 - When Consumers Adopt Innovations 422
- Diffusion 425
 - How Offerings Diffuse Through a Market 425
 - Factors Affecting the Shape of the Diffusion Curve 426
 - How Diffusion Relates to the Product Life Cycle 427
- Influences on Adoption, Resistance, and Diffusion 427
 - Characteristics of the Innovation 427

Uncertainty 429
 Consumer Learning Requirements 430
 Social Relevance 433
 Legitimacy and Adaptability 433
 Characteristics of the Social System 435

Chapter 16 Symbolic Consumer Behavior 442

INTRODUCTION: Spin It Again: The Vinyl LP Is Back 442

Sources and Functions of Symbolic Meaning 443

Meaning Derived from Culture 443

Meaning Derived from the Consumer 445

The Emblematic Function 446

The Role Acquisition Function 448

The Connectedness Function 451

The Expressiveness Function 452

Multiple Functions 452

Symbols and Self-Concept 453

Special Possessions and Brands 455

Special Brands 455

Types of Special Possessions 455

The Characteristics That Describe Special Possessions 456

Why Some Products Are Special 457

The Consequences of Innovations 436

Summary 436

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: It Is Brewing: Single-Serve

Coffeemakers Are Hot 437

Endnotes 438

Consumer Characteristics Affect What Is Special 457

Rituals Used with Special Possessions 458

Disposing of Special Possessions 459

Sacred Meaning 459

The Transfer of Symbolic Meaning Through Gift

Giving 461

The Timing of Gifts 461

Three Stages of Gift Giving 461

Summary 465

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Bicycles: More than

Pedal Power 466

Endnotes 467

Chapter 17 Marketing, Ethics, and Social Responsibility in Today's Consumer Society 472

INTRODUCTION: Pepsi Refresh Pours on the Community Grants 472

In Search of Balance 473

Self-interest Versus the Interests of Others 473

Immediate Versus Long-Term Interests 475

"Dark Side" Versus "Bright Side" Outcomes 475

Marketing Ethics, Consumer Ethics, and Deviant

Consumer Behavior 476

Acquisition Controversies 477

Consumption Controversies 483

Disposition Controversies 487

Social Responsibility Issues in Marketing 488

Environmentally Conscious Behavior 488

Charitable Behavior 490

Community Involvement 490

How Can Consumers Resist Marketing Practices? 491

Summary 491

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR CASE: Marketing Baby Carrots

Like Junk Food 492

Endnotes 493

Glossary G-1

Name/Author Index I-1

Company/Product Index I-20

Subject Index I-25