

CONTENTS

From the Editor	7
-----------------------	---

Part One: Literature and Culture

Daniel Defoe as an advocate of maritime enterprise, international trade and business. A study of Robinson Crusoe (parts 1 and 2), Captain Singleton , and A New Voyage Round the World – Marek Błaszczak	13
---	----

“In possession of a good fortune”. Money and the question of matrimony in the selected novels of Jane Austen – Bojana Bujwid-Sadowska	29
---	----

Business, money and the English gentleman in Victorian novel – Marlena Marciniak	41
--	----

“[G]old for the note” and the logic of economic exchange in Elizabeth Gaskell’s Cranford – Agnieszka Setecka	55
---	----

In the company of power. Wealth, society and speculation in Anthony Trollope’s The Way We Live Now – Małgorzata Nitka	67
--	----

The anthropology of the modern world in eighteenth- and early nineteenth-century money narratives – Joanna Maciulewicz	89
--	----

Argentina means silver. Ricardo Piglia’s Money to Burn as a critique of the sacralisation of money – Justyna Ziarkowska	103
--	-----

Money – profit – salvation. Predicates of American civil religion – Piotr Grabowiec	119
---	-----

Part Two: Language

'Do you speak business?' On successful teaching ESP to business students and professionals with an advanced level of English – Ewa Bułat	147
The Polish Kodeks spółek handlowych [The Commercial Companies Code] in English. Selected translational and terminological issues – Tomasz P. Górski....	163
Notes on the Authors.....	183