

Contents

Part I Innovation, Design and Product Development for the Silver Market

1	Product Development for the Silver Market	3
	Florian Kohlbacher, Cornelius Herstatt, and Tim Schweisfurth
2	Silver Age Innovators: A New Approach to Old Users	15
	Britt Östlund
3	Disabled Persons as Lead Users for Silver Market Customers	27
	P. Helminen
4	Integration of the Elderly into the Design Process	45
	K. Schmidt-Ruhland and M. Knigge
5	Leveraging Disruptive Innovations for the Silver Market	65
	Florian Kohlbacher and Chang Chieh Hang
6	Gerontechnology for a Super-Aged Society	79
	R. Fukuda
7	Designing for Everyone, One Person at a Time	91
	D. McDonagh and D. Formosa
8	Universal Design: Innovations for All Ages	101
	O. Gassmann and G. Reepmeyer
9	Transgenerational Design: A Heart Transplant for Housing	117
	J.J. PirkI

10 Service Innovation: Towards Designing New Business Models for Aging Societies .....	133
P. Reinmoeller

Part II Marketing for the Silver Market

11 Current Strategies in the Retail Industry for Best-Agers .....	149
G. Arnold and S. Krancioch
12 Silver Pricing: Satisfying Needs Is Not Enough – Balancing Value Delivery and Value Extraction Is Key .....	161
S. Lippert
13 Changing Consumer Values and Behavior in Japan: Adaptation of Keio Department Store, Shinjuku .....	175
N. Enomoto
14 Bargain Hunting Belongers and Positive Pioneers: Key Silver Market Segments in the UK .....	195
Lynn Sudbury and Peter Simcock
15 Grey Power: Developing Older Customer Strategies .....	203
S. Tempest, C. Barnatt, and C. Coupland
16 Catering to Older Consumers' Customer Service Needs .....	217
S. Pettigrew
17 Business Strategies for Enhancing Quality of Life in the Later Years .....	229
G. Moschis and S. Pettigrew
18 Silver Advertising: Older People in Japanese TV Ads .....	239
M. Prieler, F. Kohlbacher, S. Hagiwara, and A. Arima
19 Advertising Agencies: The Most Calcified Part of the Process .....	249
C. Nyren
20 The Importance of Web 2.0 to the 50-Plus .....	263
D. Stroud

Part III Industry Challenges and Solutions

21 The Business of Aging: Ten Successful Strategies for a Diverse Market .....	279
H. Murata

22	The Age-Neutral Customer Journey .....	295
	K. Walker
23	The Discovery and Development of the Silver Market in Germany .....	309
	C. Eitner, P. Enste, G. Naegele, and V. Leve
24	Japan's Population Aging and Silver Industries .....	325
	C. Usui
25	India: Opportunities and Challenges of Demographic Transition ..	339
	S.P. Antony, P.C. Purwar, N. Kinra, and J. Moorthy
26	Silver Markets and Business Customers: Opportunities for Industrial Markets? .....	353
	P. Mertens, S. Russell, and I. Steinke
27	Business Opportunities in Personal Transportation: Traffic Safety for Older Adults .....	371
	K. Mitobe
28	In-Vehicle Telematic Systems and the Older Driver .....	383
	Joachim Meyer
29	The Golden Opportunity of Silver Marketing: The Case of Housing and Financial Services .....	395
	Kenneth Alan Grossberg
30	The End of Mass Media: Aging and the US Newspaper Industry ..	409
	M. Miller
31	Material Innovation in the Japanese Silver Market .....	419
	J. Tomita
32	Effective Gerontechnology Use in Elderly Care Work: From Potholes to Innovation Opportunities .....	435
	H. Melkas
33	Senior Educational Programs to Compensate for Future Student Decline in German Universities .....	451
	D. Schwarz, J. Steidelmüller, and C. Hipp	