

CONTENTS

Lidia D. Czarkowska – Introduction	7
Stephen Gilligan, Robert Dilts – Navigating the hero's journey: principles and processes for a meaningful life	11

PART I

SCIENCE IN THE SERVICE OF COACHING

Lidia D. Czarkowska – Professionalism and process of professionalization in coaching	27
Urszula Sadowska – Continuous self development -- the elements of attitude that a coach should always develop	43
Włodzimierz Włodarski – “ADMIT” model – management and influence domain	64
Marta Gabalewicz-Paul – Applying cognitive behavioural approach in coaching	82
Paweł Smółka – Interpersonal skills coaching: an evidence-based approach	93

PART II

COACHING IN THE SERVICE OF ORGANIZATIONS

Maciej Bennewicz – From individual management development to organization systems coaching	111
Zbigniew Brzeziński – Executive coaching in times of crisis and changes – the method of striving for perfection for senior managers at all times	120
Katarzyna Ramirez-Cyzio – Careercoaching – trend or necessity?	136
Lucyna Wiskowska – How coaching unleashes the potential of a team	152
Bożena Wujec – Cross-cultural coaching	162
Olga Rzycka – Manager, coaching, coaching-based management – coach's insights (subjective approach)	176
Anna Dąbrowska – Strengths and weaknesses of internal coaching	183
Alicja Majka – Systemic coaching for talent development: a case study	192

PART IIIBEST PRACTICES

Kazimierz F. Nalepa – 6 pillars of success in coaching. How is it worth to invest in human potential?	207
Urszula Kuzińska – The work of the coach and the work of the client	225
Patrycja Sznajder – Implementing coaching based on competencies	237
Mirosława Huflejt-Łukasik – The practical meaning of a coaching contract	245
Zbigniew Kieras – The coach's perspective	253
Michał Kułakowski – The control of awareness as a key to increasing the quality of life and unleashing potential	261

AUTHORS	271
----------------------	------------