

CONTENTS

Introduction	9
SECTION ONE: MANAGEMENT OF VALUE AND BY VALUE. SURVEY
RESEARCH.....	13
1. General information about research survey	15
1.1. Research aims.....	15
1.2. Research thesis	16
1.3. Respondents, survey.....	17
1.4. IT support of research.....	19
2. Characteristics of research sample.....	21
3. Perception of various value groups in management.....	23
3.1. Perception of economic values against the background of other value groups.....	24
3.2. Perception of ethical and cultural values.....	27
3.3. Perception of competence and developmental values	30
3.4. Perception of social and civic values.....	33
4. Impact of values on management in the opinions of respondents.....	37
5. In search of dependency.....	47
5.1. Values in an organization and the legislative-organizational form	47
5.2. Values in an organization and the size of the entity according to employment figures.....	49
5.3. Values in an organization and the market sector.....	50
5.4. Values in an organization and the function of the respondent in an organization.....	55
6. Values whose significance has changed the most	57
6.1. Values whose significance has grown over the past three years	57
6.2. Values whose significance has dropped over the past three years	58
7. Importance of economic values	59
7.1. Importance of profit over long periods of time.....	59
7.2. Importance of short-term profit.....	61
7.3. Perception of competitiveness of an enterprise.....	63
8. Perception of innovativeness	67
9. Perception of effectiveness	71
9.1. Perception of effectiveness as a legislative-organizational form	78

9.2. Perception of effectiveness and the size of the entity according to the levels of employment.....	80
9.3. Perception of effectiveness and the market sector.....	82
9.4. Perception of effectiveness and the function of the respondent in an organization.....	87
10. Fair remuneration	89
11. Importance of the chosen non-economic values	93
11.1. Sustainable development.....	93
11.2. Social responsibility of enterprises	95
11.3. Values associated with dignity	98
11.4. Trust.....	100
11.5. Balancing professional work and other spheres of life.....	103
11.6. Quality as a value	106
11.7. Justice as a value	109
11.8. Honesty as a value.....	112
12. Common values for people in an organization (corporate).....	115
12.1. Distinguishing the common values for an organization	116
12.2. Used names of common values for people from organization	117
12.3. Familiarity with common values in an organization	118
12.4. Values most frequently accepted as common	121
12.5. Evaluation of the practical usefulness of common values.....	123
13. Respecting values in the personnel policies of an organization.....	127
13.1. Taking account of values during the recruitment and selection of people	127
13.2. Taking account of values in the assessment of employees.....	131
13.3. Taking account of values while making decisions relating to promotion	133
13.4. Taking account of values during remuneration process.....	137
13.5. Promoting values by means of intangible rewards.....	139
14. Findings and conclusions from research analysis.....	143
Appendix 1. Survey research.....	148
SECTION TWO: CASE STUDIES.....	157
SECTION THREE: CHOSEN AXIOLOGICAL ISSUES.....	235